ILAN ZONE FEDERAL AGENTS PROTEST AGAINST DISARMING

Morehouse Parish Sheriff Shows Unusual Zeal to Make Court Ruling Apply in Case of Forces Known Unfriendly to Ku Klux

BY ROBERT LEE
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
(Copyright, 1923, by Chicago Tribune.)

BASTROP (La.) Jan. 5.—Complaints are being forwarded to Washington tonight demanding that an explanation be asked for the peremptory order of Judge Odom disarming operatives of the Department of Justice in the public hearing of the Klan murders.

Chief A. E. Farland of the squad which has produced the State's evidence to be used in the prosecution of those responsible for the atrocious murders of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards, declared after the afternoon session of court that the action of the Sheriff and his deputies in disarming government agents smacked of a plan to prevent the appearance of these men in the presentation of material evidence.

The protest was inspired by the activity of Sheriff Carpenter in carrying out the disarmament order of Judge Odom. Judge Odom, in his opening address of explanation of the purposes of the public hearing, declared that while he did not consider there was the slightest ground for supposing there was danger it was best to offer all assurances to the public by requiring all those entering the courtroom to lay aside their pistols.

The order was effective for all those known to be antagonistic to the purposes of the Klan, said one of the government operatives. "It was also necessary to see that the search for weapons was perfunctory when certain men passed the doors. It was also necessary to see that the search was very thorough when others passed."

FARLAND OBEYS RULE
Chief Farland was required to leave his pistol in the Sheriff's office when he went into the courtroom to take the witness stand. James Huddleston, a former Texas Ranger, now a Federal agent, passed into court with two guns. Later on he was told by Sheriff Carpenter that Chief Farland wanted to see him in the lower courtroom. When Huddleston reached the lower courtroom, he found no one. When he tried to re-enter the courtroom he was told that he must leave his guns outside. Huddleston declined to enter.

It is plain that our work is going to be obstructed, said another Federal agent. "This whole case has been swayed up by government men at the request of Gov. Parker. It is necessary that we be in the courtroom to assist the attorneys in bringing out testimony and refreshing their memories by our notes. It is a certainty that the Klan will be filled with hostile men, without our guns. The county officials say that the Klan is a lawless organization and that the Klan is not for our benefit."

COMPLAINS TO BURNS
Farland immediately prepared a complaint to William J. Burns, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, and the individual himself. This will be referred to the proper parties. This is the kind of question that must be finally settled to the judgment of the public on the one hand, and on the other hand to those who have business associations with the individual and the individual himself.

Today in its famed public hearing called to expose to the people the evidence of the Klan murders, the State established the identities of the bodies of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards.

Tomorrow it is proposed to carry out the program arranged for today; to show by the testimony of two eminent pathologists the extremes to which the murderers went in mutilating and torturing.

COMMISSION MEETS TODAY
Will Decide Whether Germany Has Wilfully Defaulted on Coal Deliveries; France Expects to Win

BY HENRY WALKER
(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The reparations commission tomorrow will begin an examination as to whether Germany has wilfully defaulted on coal deliveries. The figures indicate that Germany is a couple of hundred thousand tons short.

Sir John Bradbury, the British member of the commission and the most hated man in France today, announced tonight that he will sit as the British commissioner tomorrow but he declined to say whether he would vote with his colleagues or against them as he did in the case of the telegraph pole default, explaining that he wished to hear the evidence first.

The French confidentially expect that a default will be voted by Italy and Belgium, giving them a majority despite the British. This latest default will give an additional reason for the seizure of guarantees when Germany defaulted on the $50,000,000 gold marks ($125,000,000) due.

PREMIER'S GO HOME
Maurice Thorez, the Italian Ambassador to London, is proceeding to Rome tonight to acquaint Premier Mussolini with the details of the new French plan and Mrs. Thorez and Jasper are returning to Brussels to acquaint the Belgian government and King with the revised proposals.

It is realized that any further pronouncement from the White House or the State Department details of the new French plan, the British policy, will make the situation more difficult. It is even rumored that Ambassador Jusserand has been instructed to make clear the French viewpoint to President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes and urge that France be permitted to execute its scheme to prove that Germany can pay if made to.

The French resign themselves to the withdrawal of the American forces from the Coblenz bridgehead when military actions are taken for they realize that United States troops will be placed in a peculiar position with the other forces on their hands and arms being moved and the occupation of the Rhine ceases to maintain its present status.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS SILENT
The American authorities tonight were as mute as clams. Ambassador Herrick stating that he was not familiar with any of the developments and the probability of pourparlers concerning the United States taking place at Washington. It is realized here that owing to Herrick's well-known friendship and sympathy for France, it will be difficult for the State Department to request him to make representations which other persons are able to do.

Roland Boyden takes an optimistic viewpoint, believing that most of the difficulties eventually will be smoothed out but the present split after four years of unsatisfactory compromises will do much toward clearing the air with developments proving to everyone's satisfaction exactly what can be done.

The Germans are preparing to demand a moratorium which they requested in the autumn. The reparations commission did not accept the request which was the direct cause for the Franco-British ultimatum. The reparations commission will accompany the memorandum in the vain hope of warding off the sanctions. Generally the Germans are resigned to the seizures and are counting on their propaganda to win the support of the world and on strikes to paralyze French efforts to obtain material reparations. They hope this will result in France abandoning their gains.

They also hope that the British will line up against the French as they did in 1920 when the French occupied Frankfurt against British advice.

WAIT MOVE BY EUROPE

Marking Time at Capital

Shelving of Robinson Plan
Probable Unless France Changes Attitude

Capital Demands Invitation Before Offering Further Suggestions

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The United States will not take the initiative toward a new effort to solve the German reparations problem nor will it assume membership in the reparations commission as matters now stand in Europe.

Unless France speedily modifies the attitude which led to the collapse of the premiers' conference and evinces a disposition to reopen the negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the reparations problem, the Robinson resolution providing for American representation on the reparations commission will be shelved in the Senate.

OPPOSED BY HARDING
That President Harding is not in favor of the adoption of the Robinson resolution under the circumstances created by the breakdown of the premiers' conference at the White House following the meeting of the Cabinet, Mr. Harding does not consider the Robinson resolution an important step for the reason that the situation in Europe today is entirely different from the situation which the Robinson resolution was created to deal.

The work of the reparations commission is to assess indemnities and make recommendations for the settlement of the reparations question. That is a question beyond the jurisdiction of the reparations commission and the President does not see how the reparations commission or American representation thereon can possibly be of service.

NO CABINET MEETING
According to the White House there was no actual meeting of the Cabinet today, none of the members having any business to present. Secretary of State Hughes did not attend the meeting of the Cabinet today because he and the President are opposed to making any formal representation of the United States to the reparations commission.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover is reported to be not entirely satisfied with the reparations plan and a more aggressive course to influence Europe should be adopted. He was largely responsible for the Robinson resolution.

WOMAN BATTLES MONTEREY UP IN ARMS

Charge of Being Rottenest City in United States Has Stirred People; Look for Cutter Captain

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—United States Dist. Atty. John T. Williams and Probation Director Samuel F. Rutter were asked today by Mayor F. J. Doolittle of Monterey, Cal., for further information regarding announcement of a new prohibition policy, made at a hastily assembled meeting there last Wednesday by C. F. Howell, captain of the coast guard cutter Shawnee.

Williams and Rutter were unable to find any rule or authorization for the reported action of Capt. Howell in conferring with civilians regarding the enforcement of the Volstead act and asked Lieut. Commander G. C. Carmine of the coast guard service to aid them, but that official said he would be unable to discuss the matter until the Shawnee returns to port.

The Shawnee left Monterey Harbor immediately after the noon and cruised south to Port San Luis. According to advices from that point tonight the coast guard cutter will arrive here tomorrow morning.

According to Mayor Doolittle, Capt. Howell told the citizens and township officers assembled at the meeting that "you have the rottenest town in the United States, the restaurants, as well as thousands of restaurants which have invaded the residence districts."

"Please advise me in the interests of my community," said Mayor Doolittle in his telegram to Williams, "whether there is such a person as Capt. Howell and if so, had he the authority to command the meeting as aforementioned and to speak as the agent of the government in the manner above indicated."

In his reply Williams told Mayor Doolittle that there is a Capt. Howell in the Coast Guard Service, but "permit me to advise you that in so far as the enforcement of the Volstead act is concerned, I am unable to find any rule or authorization for the reported action of Capt. Howell in conferring with civilians regarding the enforcement of the Volstead act and asked Lieut. Commander G. C. AYWOOD ON ROCKS

Gets Kicked Out by Soviets

World Welcome Even a Jail Had in This Country, his Host's Chance

Hosts of Russian Freedom Showered When Colony Slid Jail Jumper

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 4.—"Big Bill" Aywood has quit as head of the United States consulate in Montevideo, Uruguay. The whole venture is to be recognized by engineers in the city, and will be placed on the same basis as other Russian installations.

Debatable types of emigrants from America will still be welcomed on the same status as Russian workers, it is said.

Aywood's resignation marks the climax of his picturesque career. The one-time idol of the United States in Montevideo, he has fallen. He is sitting in a room at the Hotel Lax today on a little cot on the top of the building, waiting for the first time in his life to be recognized by engineers in the city, and will be placed on the same basis as other Russian installations.

He is an old man without a cent, and is still waiting for the first time in his life to be recognized by engineers in the city, and will be placed on the same basis as other Russian installations.

contracts by many men and women celebrities, among whom is Doro-

It is the intention of the officials of Principal Pictures Corporation to make studio alterations to the present plan, so that individual producing units which desire to lease studio space for independent productions. This is the plan now in effect at the United and Hollywood studios.

Work will be started on the improvement of the plan at once and it is thought a real production

The sale of the studios was consummated directly between King Vidor and the Principal Pictures Corporation. Mr. Vidor has signed a contract with the Goldwyn studios and is no longer his production activities at Goldwyn's plant.

One of the big assets of the studios, according to Mr. Sol Lesser, is the plant's location on the premises. This is a valuable asset in the present-day picture-making as many thousands of dollars have in the past been lost in studio equipment and settings which could have been saved had the first department a shorter distance to travel.

Mr. Lesser also states that the Plans also include the erection of permanent exterior sets. Heretofore space did not afford the possibility of leaving standing sets after the picture had been completed. The great area of land acquired by Principal Pictures Corporation will permit construction of permanent sets and the saving of fortunes to erect, to remain intact for as many film units to use as is desired.

"It is the wish of my brother and Mr. Rosenberg," said Sol Lesser, "to give Hollywood one of the most beautiful and most modern studios as well as one of the most beautiful. We will make extensive additions and will have a landscape of the most beautiful and modern."

"Everything will be made for the service and beauty combining and the new style in saying that when our new studios are ready for occupancy, they will be on a par with any now in operation throughout the country."

That the year 1933 will be one of big hits in the history of filmdom is the belief of the executives of Principal Pictures Corporation. They have made arrangements whereby their organization will expend hundreds of thousands of dollars throughout the new season in the production of big cinema classics.

Their purchase of the Video studios is but one of many investments they contemplate making throughout the new year.

strictly business way, by organized gangs of thieves, than ever before

Private garages in the residence section are being used to a large extent by the thieves for harboring stolen autos, while all identification marks are being removed and cars repainted so that their owners could not recognize them.

Excellent work was done last year by the Automobile Club and the Police Department, according to local authorities, in recovery of stolen machines, as 238 cars have been returned to their owners during the past year. The theft bureau of the club arrested 149 auto thieves during the twelve months.

The government will not be permitted to do anything, for it is not proper that anarchists, dead or alive, have anything to do with governments of any description whatsoever. Members of the radical group in the House of Deputies may come to the Alameda and look on, if they care to.

Katharine Howard

(First Wife of Henry VIII)

BY
SAM T. CLOVER, (Editor of Saturday Review)

In the Prologue it is disclosed that the original name of the ancient French, was found in an old Virginia manuscript of 1731, and still standing on the banks of the Rappahannock home of the Culpepers. The wife of the first American paper was a great-grandniece of King Henry's uncle. We learned the particulars of the plot devised by the duke of Norfolk, Katharine's uncle, from the lips of her mother, a daughter of Lady Baynton, sister to Katherine's descendant married Anthony Culper, who had fled to France after the battle of Marston Moor, as Henry's Royalists, and the two sailed to Virginia, where they prospered and raised a family. The diary, lost for years, was accidentally discovered in a room at the residence of

WILL BUILD ON DONNEGAN HILL

Goal was to secure home for automaton.

But today's new thought upon him.

Since man cannot think through, what right has he to try to make himself a creature, capable of getting enjoyment out of some of the curable tendencies in human nature?

However, the best part of this is a splendid new idea, furnished by the fact that the man who built the hill, which is in reality a hill, is a man who is a hill.

But in the role of one who is a hill, the man who built the hill, which is in reality a hill, is a man who is a hill.

Once that idea takes between the lines of her book is interesting.

So far as Aquila himself is concerned, the defense is a boomerang.

On December 12 and 13, day after the other, the man who built the hill, which is in reality a hill, is a man who is a hill.

CLEAR FOR NEW HALL OF JUSTICE

Actual Work of Clearing Ground and Razing Buildings Begun

Actual work of clearing the ground for the new Hall of Justice, to be located at the intersection of Broadway, Temple and Buena Vista streets, was started yesterday.

The July term of the United States District Court was extended by a court order yesterday for two weeks, when the Federal grand jury will make a final report on pending cases.

The inquisitorial body yesterday returned indictments against "Count" John Dracovits, Orloff, Ivan Gladanovic, Oscar A. Simon and John Popovic, charged with the counterfeiting of Bank of England notes.

The Kress House Moving Company was awarded the contract for moving the Alhambra Hotel, 109 West North of the present location. The project for moving the hotel is one of the most difficult ever undertaken in the West, it was stated.

The new Hall of Justice is to cost approximately $2,500,000. Eight asserted radicals, charged with violation of the Criminal Syndicalism Act, went on trial in Judge Shenk's court yesterday.

The accused men are acting as their own attorneys. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Atty. McCarty and Moroney.

It is expected that at least a few of the accused will be acquitted. The original indictment contained several charges, but one of the accused is dead, another is held in jail at Sacramento and the case against the third has been dismissed.

The men on trial are Roy Leonard, Lawrence Gross, Claude Irwin, Arturo Oria, Martin Larson, James Fink, William Allen and Ben Duffey.

Hubby's Former Flame Consumes Wife's Patience

Harold C. McKnight was a man of liberal thought and attitude. Although he married Geraldine A. McKnight, it's said he saw no reason for not bringing a former sweetheart to live with them.

But Mrs. McKnight objected and yesterday did what wives who object generally do—sued for divorce.

In her complaint Mrs. McKnight charges that the other woman entered her life, at least, mention of her was made, but she had been persistent and demanded that her former flame be brought to the house.

But this flame consumed Mrs. McKnight's patience. Dietrich's divorce is granted the flame can burn again, she intimates.

ARBuckle's RETURN OPPOSED BY WOMEN

VISALIA, Jan. 5.—Reinstatement of "Fatty" Arbuckle in the motion picture world by Will Hays was condemned in a resolution passed by the executive board of the San Joaquin District Federation of Women's Clubs at Visalia.

Mrs. George W. Turner, district president of Fresno, presided over the session which was attended by about fifty leading club women of the valley.

The suits were filed by Ford & Bocklin, attorneys.

The filing of the suits yesterday is the second chapter in the Hobson-Harris beauty secret squabble.

BEAUTY WAR IS CARRIED INTO COURT

War between rival beauty specialists in Hollywood was carried into the courts yesterday when Irene Hobson, former stage and screen actress, filed two suits in the Superior Court against Miss Harris, demanding $25,000 damages and an injunction.

In the first suit, in which $25,000 damages is asked, Miss Hobson declared Miss Harris was using her photograph and a letter written some time ago, for advertising purposes.

In the second Miss Hobson asserts that in December, 1921, Miss Harris agreed to teach her the secrets of beauty restoration for $15,000 and give her the secret chemical formula necessary to the business.

The suits were filed by Ford & Bocklin, attorneys.

FOUR DAYS OF WEDDED LIFE ENOUGH

Theatrical Man Says Mate Joined Another Instead of Going on Trip

Four days after their marriage his wife left him for another man, L. L. Roberts, manager of the Pickwick Stage Company, testified yesterday in his suit for divorce.

They were married Aug. 15, 1921, he testified, and four days later his wife, Mary, told him that she was going to New Orleans to visit her parents.

He stated that a day or so after his wife was supposed to have left for New Orleans, he was outstayed to meet her on the street. When he accused her of infidelity, he declared she admitted the charge and asked: "What of it?"

"The Champion Fool"

The tragedy of Christendom is the subject chosen by Rev. J. A.
Peters for his sermon tomorrow morning at the Westlake Presbyterian Church, Sixty-first and Hollywood.The church of God has evidently been in a position according to Rev. Peters, who will discuss the reason and the remedy for Christendom's failure in his morning sermon.The subject for the evening discourse is "The Champion Fool."Without any instruction or protection, except that given him by an invisible helper, Dr. Martin champion, and perhaps the first lion tamer of history. In his Sun-the story of the lion tamer.The next four Sundays being as fol-makes for the world's unrest.

Albert E. By, tomorrow morning at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church. Dr. By will also preach the third of a series of sermons to-citizens of Los Angeles for the purpose of driving the criminal element from this community, many local become of the dope excitement?

These are among the vital ques-

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

R. R.—Younger children who have whooping cough do not always have the typical whoop. The paroxysmal cough with the splitting up of mucus and sometimes vomiting afterward, are the characteristics of whooping cough always present.After they vomit they should always have a nourishing milk. The reason why whooping cough lasts so long many times because of the lack of nourishment through the frequent vomiting.Send for the address of the whooping cough binder that I spoke of, or apply a snug-fitting binder around their abdomens.
It helps to support them.M. M.—You have an article on foods during pregnancy and the nursing period, also one on consulting which you can have. We also have a book with advice to young mothers. Your other questions will be answered by your personal physician. Your question about a pregnant woman reducing? I shall answer with the following letter:"Following your directions in our paper I took off 17 pounds of superfluous fat during pregnancy and a perfectly healthy but small baby. Thanks to you! I am still about eight pounds overweight, but do not know how to go about it and still keep my milk for my baby up to standard.... Gratefully—Mrs. S."You can see that this mother reduced with beneficial results during pregnancy. From my experience I can say that if one is overweight it is often even more beneficial to reduce during pregnancy than at other times.Of course during pregnancy you have a double responsibility to getthe needed elements in your foods.
You should be very careful to drink plenty of skim milk—at least a quart, I should say. That is only 225 calories, and the vegetables and fruits and whole wheat breads and enough protein etc. The foods that makes excess fat during pregnancy and nursing are not the foods that contribute to the strength and growth of the baby, nor to the strength and worth of the milk, so you can safely cut down on these.It is really harmful for a woman to eat so much during pregnancy and nursing that she gains fat. It may bring on disorders much more serious than the fat. Fifteen pounds gained in weight, if she is normal weight during pregnancy, will allow for the weight of the baby and the water and the afterbirth. During nursing it is not necessary to gain at all. In fact, usually the fatter a nursing mother gets the thinner her milk gets.E. B.—One of the chief causes of head noises is a chronic catarrh of the middle ear—the cavity which contains the tiny ear bones, situated between the ear drum—or in the Eustachian tube the tube that connects the middle ear with the throat. Sometimes drugs like alcohol and quinine will cause them. Sometimes high blood pressure will cause them. The catarrh is usually an extension of the catarrhal condition of the nose and throat.The treatment of course would be the treatment of the cause. We have an article on high blood pressure which you can have. For your ears you would have to consult a specialist. Any local condition may be an expression of a general condition, so look to your general health.

KEEPING UP WITH MARKETS

How Housekeepers May Save Considerable Sums of Money by Watching Quotations

In Our Family Food for December 31, last, we talked about the advisability of following the market quotations, so as to ascertain which foods are plentiful and inexpensive during any particular week.

As we advised in the previous issue the housekeeper should consult her local bureau of markets in this matter, as we can give only the general news as it comes from Washington. One point should be emphasized: an individual article can give the housekeeper valuable hints, but Our Family Food feels that its greatest service in this regard lies in pointing out the advantage of the housekeeper's forming the habit of using the market information systematically. In the issue of Our Family Food for December 31, we noted the fact that sweet potatoes are quoted as plentiful and cheap, giving certain recipes for their preparation. This week we offer several rather unusual recipes for cooking these palatable and wholesome vegetables.

Ham Smothered in Sweet Potatoes
One slice of smoked ham cut into size for serving.
Three cups raw sliced sweet potatoes.
One tablespoon butter or ham tryings.

Two tablespoons sugar.
One cup hot water.
Broil the pieces of ham lightly on both sides and arrange them to cover the bottom of the baking dish. Spread the sliced sweet potatoes over them, sprinkle with sugar. Add the hot water and extra fat. Cover the dish and bake slowly until the ham is tender, basting

Sweet Potato Puff

Two pounds of sweet potatoes.
Whites of two eggs.
Two teaspoons of butter.
One-half teaspoon of salt.
Boil and mash sweet potatoes. Add butter, salt, and stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Pour into buttered baking dish or custard cups. Bake in a medium oven twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Baked Sweet Potatoes (Special)
Bake six medium-sized sweet potatoes and cut them in halves lengthwise. Scoop out the inside and season it with salt, pepper and butter and moisten with milk. Mash the inside with salt, pepper and butter. Refill the skins with the seasoned potatoes and brown in the oven.

Escalloped Sweet Potatoes and Meat

Cover the bottom of a buttered baking dish with cooked sliced sweet potatoes, cover with a layer of cold meat either ground or chopped, add another layer of sweet potatoes, season with salt, pepper, and butter, or meat tryings. Moisten with gravy or water. Bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Sweet Potato Souffle With Marshmallows

To two cups of hot sliced sweet potatoes add three tablespoons of butter, one-half teaspoon of salt,

By Chef A. L. Wyman, M.C.A.

The housewife of London, who wants to serve a special dinner at home has no trouble in securing a competent cook to take charge and prepare it for her. A writer for the London Evening News of recent date says: "The family cook of yesterday—forty, buxom, good natured, and of varying efficiency—has been threatened with extinction by the modern free lance cook."

"The free lance, who is chef-trained, usually lives in her own house or flat, and her terms are from $3 to $8 for preparing a lunch or dinner."

"Many West End registry offices (employment offices) now have a special department to connect the client who wants a special dinner prepared and the diploma-holding cook, who specializes in such work."

"Very many of our clients are feeling the pinch of the times and to them to be able to engage a cook only when she is indispensable," said the manageress of one office.

"We can supply chef-trained cooks to prepare lunch or dinner for twenty or twenty-five people on short notice. This class of cook naturally makes far more money than her sister who has regular employment," the manageress added, "and her work is far more congenial."

"She does no cleaning up, and has no responsibility beyond cooking and garnishing the meal she is engaged for. Such a cook makes easily from $1200 to $1800 a year."

There are a number of highly trained cooks in Southern California, who do not care to accept steady employment in homes, who could find plenty of work by following this class of catering, and there are many housewives who have the service of modern kitchens, and often want to serve luncheon of dinner to a party of friends, but have not the time or knowledge of cookery necessary to prepare them, who would be more than pleased to avail themselves of the services of some one who specializes in this work.

LUNCHEON FOR THIRTY
M. B. Santa Ana, requests that we suggest a menu of a luncheon for thirty limited to one meat, a vegetable, a salad and a sweet. She says that they have a number of famous cooks in their organization. During our visit to Santa Ana a number of years ago it was our pleasure to meet some of the good cooks of that city and we are pleased to suggest the following menu for their luncheon.

Individual Spanish Meat Pie

Peach Cup Burlingame

For the meat pie line thirty individual baking dishes with a rich pepper to taste and one-half cup of hot milk. Beat the mixture well. Then beat two eggs separately, add yolks to the potato mixture, cut and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Place the mixture in a buttered baking dish and place a layer of marshmallows close together over the top and brown in a slow oven.

WAYS TO COOK MACARONI

Recipes of Great Value to Family Culinary Workers Are Given in Detail

In Our Family Food for the week of December 31, last, we told something of the history and food value of macaroni. This week we continue the story by giving some valuable food.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

One cup macaroni, two cups milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup grated cheese, two tablespoons flour. Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 20 minutes; drain. Mix flour and salt thoroughly with grated cheese. Put a layer of macaroni into a buttered baking dish. Cover with cheese mixture; repeat layers, having cheese on top. Pour over just enough milk to cover top layer. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

MACARONI LOAF

One cup macaroni, one cup bread crumbs, one teaspoon onion juice, one tablespoon chopped parsley, three eggs, one teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one cup grated cheese, or three-fourth cup cooked and chopped meat, one tablespoon sweet red or green pepper, four tablespoons butter, salted water until tender; drain. Scald milk, add bread crumbs, peppers, salt, meat or cheese, onion juice and butter. Macaroni. Turn mixture into a buttered baking dish and set in a pan of water. Bake for one hour in three-quarters of an hour in 350-degree oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

CHICKEN WITH NOODLES

One chicken, one-fourth pound pork, one-half pound noodles, water or stock, about one quart, seasoning. Cut the chicken into rather small pieces and the pork into dice. Lay them in a good-sized saucepan, cover with water or stock and bring to the boiling point; keep closely covered and simmer from 1 to 2 hours.

SPAGHETTI A LA GOLDENROD

One cup spaghetti, two cups of milk, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons beating five tablespoons of powdered sugar into the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and a teaspoon of lemon juice. Brown in a slow oven.

LAYER CAKE

Beat one-third of a cup of butter with a stiff wooden spoon until creamy. Add gradually one cup of sugar and beat until light and creamy. Continue to beat and beat in slowly two well-beaten eggs. Sift two cups of sifted flour with a pinch of salt and two and a half level teaspoons of baking powder. Add the flour alternately to the mixture with one-third of a cup of milk or water. Beat well. Add half a teaspoon of extract and bake in two layers in a medium oven. Two much baking powder and too fast baking are the cause of many cake failures.

ALMOND MACAROONS

C. E. S. City, has some almond paste and wants to use it making macaroons. Place five ounces of the almond paste in a bowl, work to an even paste with two egg whites. Add the egg whites one at a time and work each one about a minute. When an even smooth mixture is formed, work in gradually, stirring constantly, one cup of sifted confectioner's sugar. Work it thoroughly, using enough sugar to make a paste that can be rolled in balls the size of a walnut. Place the balls two inches apart on a pan, polished with olive oil and dusted with flour. Bake in a moderate oven fifteen minutes.

CHILI COLORADO

H. K. City, asks that we give the recipe for a genuine Mexican chili, to be used on other dishes than beans.

Remove the seeds and veins from a quarter of a pound of dry chili peppers and wash well in plenty of water. Place in a saucepan, cover with water, bring to a boil and boil ten minutes. Drain and rub through a colander, adding water from time to time to loosen the pulp, using about two cups in all. Pour through the peppers in the colander again until the sauce is like a thick cream. Place four tablespoons of lard in a sauce pan and fry in it one clove of garlic. Skim out the garlic, stir in one teaspoon of grated sweet chocolate, one teaspoon of sugar, one tablespoon of vinegar and one teaspoon of salt.

ARTICHOKES

T. G. R. City, would like to know how to cook artichokes in all as served by the Italian restaurants in San Francisco.

Cut the stalks outer leaves and tips from six large, young and tender artichokes. Wash and boil for ten minutes in boiling water to which has been added one tablespoon of vinegar. Drain, place in a colander and run through them cold water to open the leaves. Place in a casserole, cover with one cup of olive oil, a teaspoon of vinegar and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Cover and bake in a slow oven until the oil is partly absorbed. Serve in the casserole hot or cold.

PRUNE JELLY

M. D. E. Eagle Rock, would like to know how to make prune jelly. Cover one pound of washed prunes with cold water and let stand three hours. Add half a cup of cold water, cover tightly and steam until soft. Remove the stones and prunes in a wet mould. Place in a saucepan two and a half level tablespoons of gelatin, one cup of water, one tablespoon of lemon juice, the strained juice of two oranges and stir over the fire until the gelatin is dissolved. Add one cup of cider and strain over the prunes in the mould. Set in a cold place to harden. Add one cup of sweetened whipped cream.

OYSTER SHORTCAKE

W. F. R. Santa Barbara, wants to serve a shortcake made with oysters and asks that we give directions for preparing. Make six large biscuits of an extra short biscuit dough and bake. Stew oysters in their own liquor until the edges curl. Add the oysters to three cups of rich white sauce. Split and brush with melted butter the biscuits. Pour the creamed oysters between and over the split biscuits. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve on hot plates.

COURT BOULEN

M. E. T. Long Beach, wants to know how to prepare bouillon to boil fish in. Add to two cups of hot water two cups of cider vinegar, one sliced lemon, one small sliced onion, three branches of parsley, one bay leaf, six cloves and six peppercorns and a seasoning of celery salt, salt and paprika. Cover and simmer for thirty minutes before boiling the fish.

MISS EATUMS PLANS PARTY

Whipped Cream Comes in for Much Discussion

Prospective Hostess Learns All About It

Government Statistics Give Full Information

Evelyn Eatums was full of excitement. She was giving a party, and, of course, the matter of refreshments was all important.

When it came to the subject of whipped cream for the fruit jelly, Fatty and Grubby demurred.

"Aw, why'n't you have a dessert that men will eat, not daisy stuff like whipped cream?"

"Men aren't coming, Grubby!" retorted Evelyn. "Only girls, and you'd just better stand in with me or you won't get even a taste of the party."

All the girls like whipped cream, and I want it for the jelly. We don't learn how to make it in school for you see, I'm afraid Mummy won't want to bother, she's so busy."

"I'll tell you what, Sis," Fatty's eyes were cast round with interest as he developed his theme, "S'prise her and learn a whole lot about whipped cream and why it's good for you and all that dope and I'll bet she'll do anything you want. Mums is strong on learning about food values, you know."

IDEA NOT BAD

Evelyn considered this. "Not a bad idea for a boy," she said finally. "I'll think it over."

"You better," and the twins walked away with an important air.

Evelyn did some more thinking. To make a long story short she found the "raidering" data, as she rather grandly expressed it, about whipped cream would give her plenty to do through several domestic science study hours.

During these hours the girls were allowed to look up information on any subject that interested them.

Evelyn made good use of the knowledge she had acquired in school and was careful to make notes on subject matter from sources known to be absolutely reliable. The following she obtained from reading published results of very careful governmental studies:

"Raw cream excels pasteurized, homogenized, and pasteurized-homogenized cream in whipping quality, according to United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 1075, The Whipping Quality of Cream."

Important Factors

"The most important factors that influence the whipping quality of cream are the kind of cream, its age, its butterfat content, and its temperature. Raw cream of at least 30 per cent butterfat gives best results. It should be from twelve to forty-eight hours old and should be kept very cold. The whipping quality of any cream is improved by age, up to the point when a sour taste is developed, but at seventy-two hours a maximum whip is usually obtained. Pasteurization lowers the whipping quality and homogenization is very detrimental. Together they destroy it entirely."

"Whipped cream is a valuable food as well as a garnish and a dessert. This bulletin compares the stiffness of various kinds of cream whipped with a Dover (rotary) egg beater under standard conditions. It is of good quality, clean and wholesome, its use for whipping purposes is highly recommended by the department. No cream having less than 30 per cent butterfat will give a satisfactory whip, and from 25 to 30 per cent is usually desirable."

PASTEURIZED CREAM

"Pasteurized cream will whip as well as raw cream if its butterfat content is at least 30 per cent. A 20 per cent raw cream is nearly equal to a 25 per cent homogenized cream in whipping quality, and a 21 per cent raw cream is nearly equal to a 20 per cent homogenized cream for whipping purposes. It takes much less time to whip raw cream than pasteurized cream, and the higher the homogenization the poorer the whipping quality."

To insure good results, the temperature of the cream should not exceed 45 deg. Fahr. Increasing the acidity up to 0.3 per cent, when as soon as possible, the cream does not affect the whipping quality, but adding sugar at any time during the whipping tends to thicken the cream, and it is not recommended.

"Whipped cream will stand up or remain stiff for some time if the temperature, the quality of the whip and the butterfat content are right."

POWDERED USELESS

"Powdered cream is useless for whipping purposes. Evaporated milk will whip, but it will not stand up. In the same time it took to thicken the cream we will return to its original form. In selecting cream for whipping, care should be taken to have it of satisfactory sanitary quality."

SLAYING SUSPECT ARRESTED

Man Wanted for Murder Here is Held by Police in Indianapolis

Russell Kricke, alias Russell Walker, Dabulich murder suspect, was arrested in Indianapolis yesterday after a country-wide search, according to telegraphic advices to the police here last night. The telegram, received by Detective Lieutenant Charles Verand, said Kricke would waive extradition.

Kricke is a brother-in-law of J. W. Allen, who is under arrest and indictment here, and they are charged jointly with the murder. Allen is asserted to have been in possession of a ring and money taken from Dabulich, and was arrested in Oakland.

Nick F. Dabulich, Oakland cafe proprietor, disappeared October 17, last, during a visit to this city. His body was found November 2, stuffed beneath a culvert on Angeles Mesa Drive, and at first was thought to be that of a highwayman killed by the police. It was identified several days later. The arrest of Allen and beginning of the search for Kricke, alias Walker, followed.

Detective Sergeant Cline will leave today for Indianapolis to bring back the prisoner.

Telephone Officials Say Survey Shows Population at That Mark in 1939

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—Completion of a survey by engineers in the employ of the Associated Telephone Company of Long Beach has caused the concern to lay plans for providing service to a city of 1,000,000 persons in sixteen years.

It was revealed today. More than 30,000 persons have come into the Long Beach district to live within the last eleven months in addition to the thousands of visitors and tourists, the survey shows.

Figures compiled by the industrial engineers, according to Samuel R. Hestley, manager of the local telephone plant, shows the present population as close to 1,000,000. Projecting the curve of growth in population into the future, the engineers have found that the accepted ratio of growth will show 1,000,000 population in 1939.

Expansion of the present telephone system, capable of caring for population of about 800,000 people will be carried out as the Long Beach district, which includes the city and its surrounding towns, grows, Mr. Hestley said.

Forty-eight new shotguns, manufactured especially for police use, were distributed yesterday by Chief of Police Oaks to the night "flying" squad of the police department. The weapons are the latest thing in firearms and are guaranteed to wear a perfect record in the hands of the police.

Area Commander Coming

Gen. Morton to Inspect Coast Artillery; Review of R.O.T.C. Units and the National Guard

Maj.-Gen. Charles G. Morton, commanding officer of the Ninth Corps Area, with headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco, will arrive in Los Angeles this afternoon. He will stay at the Ambassador Hotel.

The general is accompanied by his wife.

During his stay of several days, Gen. Morton will inspect the Coast Artillery post at Fort MacArthur. He particularly desires, while here, to inspect and review the units of the R.O.T.C. now under training in the high schools, colleges and universities of Los Angeles and vicinity. In no department of his responsibility as corps area commander is the general more interested than in that of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps; he feels very deeply that, during the next generation, should the country again and quite suddenly be faced with a great national emergency, it would be no element of group among all our citizenry capable of rendering such prompt service, of inestimable value, as the Reserve Officers' Training Corps units throughout the country.

On Tuesday night, January 15, Gen. Morton will review and inspect the One Hundred and Sixteenth Infantry, California National Guard, at its Army in Exposition Park. Previous to the inspection

THEATERS SHOW STEPS FORWARD

City revenues derived from the occupational license tax on motion picture and other theaters in Los Angeles reveal that patronage in these houses practically doubled during the last fiscal year, as compared with the previous year, according to the annual report of City Auditor Myers, just issued.

The fiscal year ended June 30 last. Taxes paid into the city treasury by the motion-picture houses, based in proportion to box-office receipts, amounted to $17,122,35.

Previous to 1922 the occupational license tax on theaters was cut 50 per cent. In 1921 the tax was $15,000. Had not the assessment been slashed in two, the amount for the last fiscal year would have reached $34,244.70.

Theaters other than motion-picture houses paid $704,828, almost double the amount in 1921, the figure likewise being based on the 50 per cent reduction. Auditor Myers called attention to the importance of the theaters to Los Angeles as a paying industry and pointed out the tremendous increase in attendance.

GIRL IS ACCUSED

A complaint charging Viola Clark Howard with the embezzlement of a diamond ring valued at $149 was issued yesterday by Justice Baird. The ring was said to have been owned by Nick Anest, 123 Beacon street, Los Angeles Harbor, and has been missing since December 19.

On Friday, January 19, at 6 p.m., Gen. Morton will be the guest of honor at the monthly meeting of the Association of the Army of the United States, at 423 South Flower street. This association has a large and enthusiastic membership, composed of officers and non-commissioned officers of all arms and branches of the military service. Its monthly meetings are characterized by the careful selection of well-equipped officers and civilians for the serious discussion of matters pertaining, first, to the technique of present-day military instruction and training and, second, of more generally matters of national and international importance, which bear directly or indirectly upon the question of such appropriate measures as ought to be taken in order to make wise provision for the national defense.

The speakers for the meeting January 19 will be Col. Frank J. Morrow, who will give the first of a series of lectures on "Military Tactics;" Maj.-Gen. Charles G. Morton, whose subject will be "Military Training at the High Schools, Colleges and Universities;" and Capt. John D. Fredericks, who

TAPIOCA TRAVELS FAR

Popular Article of Food Makes Journey from Java to American Dining-rooms

A nutritious food from the other side of the earth, from beyond the South Sea islands, beyond Borneo and its head hunters, from a land of half-civilized natives, tropical jungles and villages of straw and bamboo huts, grown along the slopes of volcanoes, ripened through eighteen months of burning sun, brought to us from a country most world travelers never see—this gives tapioca something more than ordinary interest.

Imagine a warm, sunny hillside looking out over a valley of rice fields and banana plantations that glisten green as after a new rain. It is Java, the "Land of the Sun." Just below us in the shelter of a bamboo thicket is a group of small thatched huts. Near by, the natives, little brown men, women and children, are at work in the field harvesting the tapioca, digging the roots with a queer kind of V-shaped hoe.

SCIENTIFIC NAMES
The tapioca plant is known to botanists as Manihot, but it is called also cassava, cassia, manioc, mandioca and other local names. It grows from four to ten feet in height, usually consisting of one or more woody stalks from which branch long slender stems with skeleton-like leaves. None of this portion above ground enters into tapioca, but it may be cut into short lengths which are stuck into the ground for starting a new crop. The underground portion consists of one or more tubers, closely resembling a sweet potato, although much larger, some tubers weighing as much as twenty to thirty pounds.

After digging, the potato-like roots are loaded into high-sided carts which are drawn to a factory in a nearby village. Here the roots are washed and crushed, the rough fibers extracted, leaving the tapioca in the form of a fine, white flour.

Many thousands tons of tapioca flour are shipped from Java to this country every year. In manufacturing quick cooking tapioca the process employed includes steam cooking, steam drying and the final crushing into small white crystals which absorb water readily in cooking, thus making unnecessary any previous soaking.

IS A CARBOHYDRATE
Tapioca is almost a pure carbohydrate, which is the heat and energy producing element so necessary to life. In fact, a pound of tapioca produces as many heat units as a pound of entire wheat flour and considerably more than a like amount of home-made bread, rump steak, eggs, potatoes and other common food materials. It may be used in any number of pleasing recipes combining fruits, eggs, milk and other food materials in such a way that all proteins, fat, carbohydrates, mineral and vitamins requirements are satisfied. Children are particularly fond of tapioca, for it is a well-rounded food, easily assimilated. Doctors, nurses and dietitians recommend tapioca for the sick or convalescent. For it is almost always possible to find some tapioca recipe which will appeal to the delicate appetite of an invalid and at the same time meet with the requirements of a prescribed diet.

COOKING EXPANDS IT
Nowadays, tapioca is used in almost every course of the menu and for the best results with any tapioca dishes it should be remembered that tapioca expands in cooking, and although the quantity called for in the recipe may appear insufficient when first added, it will thicken properly when thoroughly cooked. A double boiler, or cooking dish in a larger receptacle of boiling water, should always be used. Tapioca gradually into the liquid, stirring continuously for two or three minutes and frequently during the cooking, so that lumps will not form at the bottom of the dish.

SOUPS
Two level tablespoons of tapioca added to a quart of any kind of soup about fifteen minutes before serving from the stove greatly improves its flavor and adds to its nourishing qualities.

CEREALS
The combination of tapioca and any cooked cereal is delicious. Use equal quantities of each and cook the usual time.

GRAVIES
Any gravy is improved by using two level tablespoons of tapioca for each pint of liquid in place of flour. Boil until clear, stirring as needed. Season to taste. It does not lump and requires no straining.

PHILLIPS CLEW POINTS NORTH

Believing that Clara Phillips, escaped murderer, had crossed the Canadian border and will attempt to leave that country by ship, the Sheriff's forces asked Canadian officials yesterday to check passenger lists of all outgoing steamers from northern ports.

The description of a mystery woman who traveled north in an automobile was given by Mrs. Phillips' escape from the County Jail in given as the basis of the theory now held. From points in Northern California, Oregon and Washington reports of the presence of this woman have been received. Sheriff Truesdale stated yesterday the report of an investigation of jail conditions conducted by Under Sheriff Halcus and Dep. District Attorney Phillips' escape was now in the hands of County Council Hill. All the recommendations contained in the report, with the exception of dismissal of two officials, have been complied with, Sheriff Truesdale stated, and he has asked County Council Hill for legal advice as to the dismissal.

Bored Prisoner Walks Out, But Not Far Enough

Police Judge Chambers' court was a busy place yesterday and no one seemed to pay any particular attention to George F. Sergeant, 34 years of age, who, with several other men, was awaiting arraignment on a charge of violating the State poison law.

Sergeant became tired of waiting, and likewise realized that his record as an ex-convict and San Quentin parole violator, would not excite judicial clemency. So he quietly walked out.

The stairway was clear as he leisurely made his way to freedom. Then the court officers missed him and shouted the alarm. Detective Sergeant Matheau at the bottom of the steps heard the commotion and recognized Sergeant. The escape attempt was circumvented, so to speak.

Behrendt, who arrested Sergeant at 1237 West Twenty-fourth street, said the ex-San Quentin inmate had been with the announced purpose of killing his father and mother. He had a hypodermic needle and a quantity of morphine in his possession when taken into custody.

REDS ENTER PLEAS

Eighteen arrested L.W.W.'s appeared before Judge Avery in Superior Court yesterday on a charge of criminal syndicalism. They pleaded not guilty and their cases were set for trial on the 15th inst.

When the arrested Wobblies were asked by the court if they had counsel, they answered in chorus that they had the "socialist" and the "red" and "we will exercise that right."

The court replied that they had this right, but that he would appoint an attorney to associate with them in their defense.

COMMAND IN FIELD

Yesterday Fort MacArthur's lower reservation was like a deserted village. The entire command trekked out of the reservation gates at daylight in full field equipment and camped on the upper reservation for the day. A noonday meal was served in the field and actual campaign conditions were simulated by the troops during the carrying out of several intricate field problems under the direction of Col. Haynes and Maj. Ruhlen.

Several important changes in the officer personnel of the port artillery post also were announced yesterday. Two new coast artillery officers have arrived from camping, and the command is now in the hands of Col. Haynes and Maj. Ruhlen.

LONG BEACH POSTOFFICE JOB FILLED

Fred McCullach's Name is Sent to Senate by Harding for Confirmation

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—Telegraphic advices from Washington today stated that President Harding has sent to the Senate the name of Fred W. McCullach as his appointee as postmaster of Long Beach to succeed Charles H. Windham, recently appointed city manager here. Mr. McCullach, who was assistant postmaster under Windham, has been acting as postmaster here since Windham's resignation. Mr. McCullach's nomination was recommended by Congressman W. F. Lineberger of this district. The news of President Harding's action today was received with satisfaction in Long Beach.

Assurance of an early start on the construction of Long Beach Community Hospital was given here today when it was announced that approximately $50,000 has been contributed by private persons toward the construction of the first unit. The money will be added to the $100,000 appropriated by the city for the first unit. The cost of the first unit were placed at $150,000. This sum does not include equipment and furnishings, however, it was said.

CONCRETE CURE FOR SPEEDBUG

Police Judge Sends Large Squad Behind Bars to Think It Over

Heavy feet, in conjunction with the gas pedal, caused too much momentum for the city speed laws, whereupon twenty-two more drivers said good-by to Police Judge Chambers and hello to the jailer yesterday.

Among the speeders who faced the court was one woman, Mrs. Helma McKee, 1218 East Fifty-fifth street. She was sentenced to ten hours for registering twenty-six miles an hour.

J. H. Smith, given five days, and J. W. Williams, three days, invoked the leniency of the court with good excuse and had their sentences suspended.

Religated to jail fare and concrete suits were: D. B. Kospey, three days; F. O. Morales, three days; Albert T. Otis, one day; R. A. Mozan, three days; Harry Tofel, two days; S. R. SPANKING IS WIFE'S PLEA FOR DIVORCE

Thomas F. Lane was a man of old-fashioned ideas. It became apparent from his wife's suit for divorce, filed in the Superior Court. When she did something of which he disapproved, he placed across his knee and spanked her, she avers, just as husbands were wont to do in the days when the Constitution was written.

He spanked her in October, 1921, and she left him promptly, she declares. Another act of cruelty recited by Mrs. Lane is a threat she says her husband uttered to shoot her dog. The Lanes were married in 1912. Guy F. Bush is Mrs. Lane's attorney.

Change Pleas to Guilty in I. W. W. Cases

Sensing that sympathies of jurors in Police Judge Frederickson's court did not tend "wobblily," three arrested I.W.W. members, charged with violating the picketing ordinance, yesterday withdrew their pleas of not guilty and informed the court that they were ready for sentence.

Ten days each was the sentence meted out by the court. The offenders are Duane Gray, George Mattio and Paul Kastuljak.

Pleadings were changed following the conviction by a jury of G. J. Farrell on Thursday. Farrell tried his own case, but failed to sway his peers. He was sentenced to twenty-eight days in jail.

Quaint Notions of Mate Bring Divorce Action

William T. Schlup's quaint notions of entertaining guests at his home led to domestic estrangement, according to assertions contained in Mrs. Emma A. Schlup's divorce complaint filed yesterday.

The entertainment in question, according to the wife, consisted largely of dissertations by her husband on his love affairs with other women, and the displaying of the picture of a bathing girl, to whom he referred as his sweetheart.

The plaintiff further charged that her husband had a habit of threatening suicide and carefully arranging the gas for his demise. But he never reached the point of opening the gas. She said he informed her that his interest had died out and that his affections were directed elsewhere. They were married in 1913 and separated last December.

Prize Winning Milk from a Highly-Bred Herd

Something beyond the utmost in care and cleanliness is responsible for the fact that Adohr continues to win all local, state and national prizes. The supreme test of good milk is the source of supply. Realizing this, the owners of Adohr Stock Farms have spared neither time nor expense in the selection of their herd. FORT M'ARTHUR PERFECT

America's Finest Coast Defense Given 100 Per Cent Rating for Inspection Showing

Fort MacArthur, America's finest coast defense, has been rated 100 per cent as a result of the showing made by the post's crack artillerymen in a two-day inspection just completed by Col. Ira Haynes, commanding the Ninth Corps Coast Artillery District. Col. Haynes, before he departed for San Diego last night complimented Maj. George Ruhlen on having the best trained command in the Ninth Corps Area.

Fort MacArthur's entire garrison went through its paces Thursday morning for Col. Haynes, first in parade and then passed in review with full field equipment. Later the fourteen-inch disappearing guns of Batteries Farley, Leary, Osmond and Mahan were manned and fired with sub-caliber charges as also were the twelve-inch mortars of Batteries Saxton and John Barlow.

COMMAND IN FIELD

Yesterday Fort MacArthur's lower reservation was like a deserted village. The entire command trekked out of the reservation gates at daylight in full field equipment and camped on the upper reservation for the day. A noonday meal was served in the field and actual campaign conditions were simulated by the troops during the carrying out of several intricate field problems under the direction of Col. Haynes and Maj. Ruhlen.

Several important changes in the officer personnel of the port artillery post also were announced yesterday. Two new coast artillery officers have arrived from camping, and the command is now in the hands of Col. Haynes and Maj. Ruhlen.

Dabney No. 5 Is on Land Leased From Children

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)
LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—Three American-born children of Japanese parents are the official owners of the land lease on which the Dabney No. 5 is for an oil barrel well, it was revealed this afternoon. The youthful owners of the lease are children of M. Shibusawa, a truck gardener of Signal Hill. Shibusawa was born in Japan but his children first saw the light of day in this country. The lease is located at the southwest corner of Walnut avenue and Creston street. It was leased by Shibusawa in the name of his children some time ago and after permitting the oil company to take a drilling on the land, the elder Japanese continued his gardening operations around the derrick that soon dotted the tract.

LONG BEACH CHAMBER AGAINST ANNEXATION
"GREATER LOS ANGELES" IDEA FINDS LITTLE FAVOR

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)
LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—If there is any sentiment in Long Beach in favor of this city becoming annexed to Los Angeles, it was hard to find at the local Chamber of Commerce when a questionnaire on the proposition was received by chamber officials from the City of Los Angeles.

The communication, sent out over the signature of W. R. Abbott of Venice, G. A. Damon of Pasadena and Lyle Pendergast of Los Angeles, proposes annexation as a "greater Los Angeles" and the opinion of chamber directors as to the right of government that should be set up in the "greater Los Angeles" was received by the chamber. The communication was described here as an attempt to revive the movement for a so-called "Greater Los Angeles" which would incorporate virtually everything from the mountains to the sea into a "Greater Los Angeles." The questionnaire was received by Secretary Lynn Ballard of the chamber.

"Pot of Gold" Found Buried Nears Owner

Found Buried Nears Owner

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
ONTARIO, Jan. 5.—Plans of Mrs. Secunda Falabrino to make a visit to Sunny Valley, the land of her birth, were interrupted rudely on November 19, last, when Ontario officers, in a bootlegging raid on the premises occupied by her husband, Joe Falabrino, and herself on the ranch of C. E. Ramble to the south of the city, took into custody what the woman declared were her savings of years. But she may yet see the fulfillment of her hopes, it was learned tonight, following the action of W. O. Hardy, Chief of Police, in turning over the "pot of gold" to the woman's attorney, J. E. Burham.

It was while digging in the garden, near the house occupied by Falabrino, on the night of November 19, in search of hidden liquor, that officers, headed by Chief Hardy and Charles Ward, special officer of the District Attorney's office, unearthed a two-quart jar containing $493 in currency and silver.

The police believed the cash to be the fruits of an illegal liquor business, of which Falabrino formerly had been a partner, but, by the time the money was found, the officers were without delay, a search of the Falabrino family records revealed that the woman brought suit against Chief Hardy, Officer Ward and others, for the recovery of the cash and the return of the jar. A "pot of gold" today was the result of a court order signed by Judge Curtis.

Dynamite Jars 'Most Everything But That Oven'

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)
SANTA ANITA, Jan. 5.—Several persons who estimated at $1000 resulted this afternoon when a dynamite crew working on the Carrillo Hotel project, set off two heavy discharges to break a concrete oven which had been used in a bakery structure removed to make way for the five-story hotel.

Fragments of rock and broken timbers were hurled 300 feet. Mrs. J. J. Allen, living near by, struck on the head and slightly hurt as she stood in her doorway. A Chinese laundryman was killed by a rock that plunged through the roof of his laundry. Damage was done to the home of Mrs. A. M. Pilling, 111 West Carrillo street. Every window of the property was broken and all the windows in the Central Christian Church were shattered.

Many pedestrians passing along the street near the scene had narrow escapes, and Chapala street was heaped with debris. The oven remained intact.

Southland Jail Is Preferred to Carefree Exile

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)
SANTA MONICA, Jan. 5.—To be confined in the County Jail or exiled from this city for six months. That was the preference given yesterday to Bert "Rocky" Given, negro, 30 years of age, by Clarence E. Webb, Captain of Police.

"Captain, sub," said the asserted inmate, after a moment's reflection, "I reckon you'd better send me to the house of correction. I like this section of the country and I don't want to leave it. I like this section of the country and I don't want to leave it. I like this section of the country and I don't want to leave it."

LONG BEACH PLANS OWN GAS PLANT

Manufacturers Will Take Steps to Assure Municipal Distribution

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)
LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—Prompt steps will be taken by the manufacturers of Long Beach to assure the industrial section of the city an independent gas-distributing plant, it was announced today by George A. Brown, secretary of the Long Beach Gas Company, made when it announced two days ago that it neither would reduce the industrial gas rate nor enter into negotiations with the city for the purchase of the company's plant here.

No further negotiations between the city and the gas company will be carried on, it was said, and all energies among the manufacturers will be directed toward securing a plant here without delay. A local independent gas company, controlled by the city, will secure its gas supply from the Signal Hill field and will distribute it at a rate much lower than that now prevailing in favor of a majority of those who are opposed to the problem, it was said here today.

Harbor to Have Facilities for Case Oil Trade

Facilities for Case Oil Trade

The Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday answered charges that the city is providing no facilities for handling case oil by pointing out that the Petroleum Export Company has recently been given a lease on the Terminal Island side of the east basin, where it will be handled, and where the city will build wharves for the service.

The oil company's frontage will be 1000 feet with a depth of 476 feet and there will be built there tanks, warehouses and other facilities for the handling of case and other oil.

Traffic Manager Sandberg yesterday called attention to the fact that at the present time two city berths had been set aside for oil handling, in order to give service, in spite of the fact that in New York and other eastern ports the harbor regulations require that case oil must be handled from lighters in the harbor and not at the wharves and docks.

Lumber Yards at Harbor Are to be Removed at Harbor Are to be Removed

After two years of negotiation, the Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday completed arrangements with the San Pedro Lumber Company which will result in the company's moving from its present location on the main channel, north of First street, Los Angeles Harbor, to a new nineteen-acre lease on the west side of the west basin near the Associated Oil Company's plant.

The lumber company's present site comprises but eleven acres. It is expected that the removal will require nearly one year's time. After the main channel frontage is cleared the city will improve it with wharves and transit sheds to accommodate commercial vessels of all kinds to meet the constant demand the board is receiving for increased facilities for harbor business.

EDDIE LOOS TOPS FIELD IN CALIFORNIA OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

HAGEN FINISHES CLOSE SECOND TO LOCAL "PRO" Leader Hands in "147" Card for Thirty-six Holes on Links at San Francisco

BY HAY CHAPMAN
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Eddie Loos of Chicago, winner of the California Open at the Rancho Golf Club of Los Angeles, led the field by two strokes in the first half of the California open championship at the San Francisco Golf and Country Club today. Loos was California's first open champion at Lakeside two years ago; Jim Barnes, the title holder till this evening, was competing but in his stead are Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen, who hold the national championships on either side of the Atlantic, beside Joe Kirkwood, the peerless golfer from the Antipodes.

Loos leads Hagen by two strokes and MacDonald Smith by one more, while Kirkwood, Hunt Martin, the champion of Southern California, Burns, the veteran "Jock of the South" and Al Espinosa, a champion and now open champion of the State of Washington, "Little Putter," five to seven strokes behind the leader at the halfway mark.

STAGGER COME-BACK
The last round of the morning at Lakeside, California, was the subject of universal conversation for this signal "come-back" which fellations to the proper share, even the men to win this tournament must meet Mac Smith.

Loos, who had started his round at 10:30, was in the lead at 11:30, but he came home with a missing 40-foot putt to tie 4 in the last green. Yankee Moguls Up in Arms
by Giants' Attitude

BY A. J. HENRY WINE
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A breach has developed between the two New York major league baseball clubs over the scheduling of Sunday games next season that may cause considerable trouble at the joint schedule meeting of the two organizations at Atlantic City, N. J., tomorrow.

Telegrams sent by officers of both clubs to the presidents of their respective leagues now in Atlantic City, disclose a state of open warfare that had its start in the alleged rejection of the Yankees from the Polo Grounds home of the Giants, which forced the American League to construct their new stadium.

It evidently was after hearing that the Giants ownership was maneuvering for the scheduling of conflicting Sunday dates in New York that the Yankee proprietors yesterday wired President John Johnson of the American League to oppose any such movement that might be made at the Atlantic City meeting.

WINE HEDGES
When news of this was published today, Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, sent this telegram to John A. Harder, head of the parent circuit:
"The two major league clubs in New York draw from a population of 16,000,000 people and the New York National League club believes that if the attendance is sufficient no harm can come by having as many conflicting Sunday dates as possible."

There are many local sentiment and amateur baseball clubs that play in the vicinity which draw from 10,000 to 15,000 people on Sunday, notwithstanding the fact that at the same time one of the

CALLAN TO BE TROJAN MENTOR

Los Callan, captain of the famous 1922 University of Southern California football eleven, which defeated Penn State 14 to 3, in the New Year's Day game at Pasadena, will be with the Trojans again next year, but not in the capacity of a player.

Next fall will find Callan as line coach for the Trojan variety. Such was the announcement made last night by Graduate Manager Owyman Wilson.

One thing to certain and that is that Callan knows football. If the star Trojan line man can impart the knowledge he displayed in past games to his future pupils, Callan should be very much of a success as a football coach.

New York and the Brooklyn teams are playing professional ball. "We are in favor of as many conflicting dates as possible as five dates will mean approximately $100,000 to this club, which we consider a good and sufficient reason for your trying to obtain the consent of President Johnson of the American League for the plan of conflicting dates."

HUSTON REPLIES
When he obtained a copy of this, Col. Huston, who yesterday announced his decision to retain his part ownership of the Yankees, said the last paragraph of the Stoneham message.

"His reasons," said the Huston telegram, "were entirely mercenary. The only business reason possible for the Giants to advance after having peremptorily ordered us off the Polo Grounds was to secure their Sunday games, which would compensate them for the loss of the rest of the Yankees were they to be sold."

"If we permit them to secure this money," Huston added, "we acknowledge that our league will again confess to its feebleness, and that which construction of the new Yankee stadium is supposed to fortify us."

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 5.—When the Pittsburgh-Stanford football game only drew $200 spectators and created a handsome deficit in the treasury, the good people in these parts began to suspect that perhaps post-season inter-collegiate football games were not all that they should be.

But when the well-whittled faculty as several of the educational spinal columns of about half the players on the football squad, the suspicion became a certainty. Regardless of the truth of the matter, the Stanford undergraduates are going to lay the horrible fate of Caddick, Honck, Johnson, Dea, Douglas & Co. to their neglect of their studies while trying to prepare for Pittsburg.

There is no doubt but that the failure of the football game was in some measure due to the Pittsburgh game. They were doubtless on the ragged edge of scholastic credit at the end of the regular season, and the month that intervened which might have saved them had they earned their credit at the Stanford game.

The post-season game, however, cannot be blamed for the horrible fate of Hartranft, Smith and Clarke, track stars, or Faust, Chapin, Cook and Goodrich, freshman heroes. The action of the faculty in scoring the athletes, while it is extremely disconcerting to the rosters, is at least an indication that Stanford University proposes to retain its standing as an institution of learning in which athletics are regarded as of secondary importance.

Lost the round, put the dark-skinned lad on his feet and he sure did lead into Larry in the third. He caught Murphy with a right to the stomach that almost doubled Larry up and caused him to fall into a hugging clinch for protection. The crowd yelled its approval with no uncertain tones. From that time on the round was all Moha's. The last session was a humdinger. The lads walked away at each other with art thrown in the wind.

Murphy landed a punch of a left on the stomach that staggered his man but Moha came back strong and caught Larry in a standstill. In the semi-wind-up Johnny Cline cut Sailer Vincent to the canvas in the first round for the count of nine. The Sailer came back after that and put up a great scrap but could not overcome the knock down and was therefore on the losing end.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Jimmy Hackley and Willie Burns fought out a close, 1-1, 1-1, 1-1. On the floor of the margin of victory seems slim, but Hunter played a wonderful game and undoubtedly ran among the country's first few leading door players.

Tilden, apparently headless of the loss of a portion of his middle finger of his striking hand, displayed all of his former speed and dazzling array of shots. His service was with dazzling speed, and his back-hand volleying and placements were beautiful and skillful at the net, taking the best ones unsurpassed.

In beating Hunter, Tilden played a near Tartar as the New York player, though at some in the indoor game, volleyed, smashed, and had his serve hurtling over the net with power and precision and sent Bill smirking to the extreme corners in the first set.

Larry Murphy Gets Decision Over Kid Moha

BY ED CHALFANT

A faster or more furious slugger match could hardly have been run up with in a month of Sundays than that put up by Larry Murphy and Kid Moha last night in the feature event at the Hollywood stadium. The decision went to Murphy but there were many present who roared that the worst Moha should have gotten was a draw. Moha had served frequently in the missing line, although Murphy was the greater offender. His judgment of distance, at times, was pitiful.

Moha had a slight shade in the opening round owing mostly to Murphy's wildness. The second session went to Larry who was outpunched during the first half of the round but who staged a vicious onslaught in the last half. Just before the going signal, Larry landed a terrific left in the face, sending the Kid to the mat. Moha was so shaken up, that when he arose he lost his bearings and found it difficult to regain his corner.

Lost the round, put the dark-skinned lad on his feet and he sure did lead into Larry in the third. He caught Murphy with a right to the stomach that almost doubled Larry up and caused him to fall into a hugging clinch for protection. The crowd yelled its approval with no uncertain tones. Hopes to Make an Extended
Tour of West

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—William T. Tilden, tennis champion, who is now on a western tour, exhibiting his skill on the indoor courts, has apparently suffered no handicap in the surgical operation which cost him a portion of the middle finger of his racquet hand. Tilden was greatly surprised and greatly elated when he undertook the test a few days ago in several stiff engagements with local players, his first essay on the courts since his encounter with the overseas. Among his opponents were Carl Fischer and Andy Widener.

"I feel greatly encouraged about my first try on the western courts," he said. "I can grip my racquet far better and hit with much more power and precision than I believed I could by spring. Of course, it is going to take several weeks of practice for me to determine exactly how much I have lost and how much of my former stuff I will be able to regain. But I must say I am far more hopeful than I believed."

Tilden's finger has healed far more rapidly than either he or the attending physicians believed possible. He has been able to play tennis much more rapidly than he or the attending physicians believed possible. He has been able to play tennis much more rapidly than he or the attending physicians believed possible.

At first Tilden was worried because he was not able to get over his terrible sweeping forehand drive. Afterward he discovered it was not because of the loss of a part of his finger but because he had developed a blister on his hand.

FAST PROGRAM FOR SWATTERS

Title at Stake Tomorrow in B. H. Dymas Tilt

Pasadena Court Team to Put Up Big Fight

Barker and Allen Will Meet in Feature Go

The club championship of Southern California is at stake Sunday when eight teams will meet in the final round of play in the B. H. Dymas Tennis League.

The Live Oaks Tennis Club of South Pasadena is favored to win the beautiful Dymas trophies but in order to do so they have a hard nut to crack in the form of a Pasadena Tennis Club with whom they battle Sunday morning at the Pasadena Tennis Club. Although Pasadena has a chance to win they have one of the strongest tennis clubs in California and are certain to give the Live Oaks players plenty to worry about.

MUST WIN ALL

In order to clinch the championship Live Oaks must defeat Pasadena by the score of 4 matches to 2. That is providing the Whittier Tennis Club which is in second place takes all six matches from San Pedro which they are favored to do. In the Pasadena-Live Oaks match Clarence Barker representing Live Oaks will meet Allen of the "Millionaire Club" in the first singles match. The veteran Barker is favored to win this contest. If he can be counted upon, in the second singles Stan Welch of Pasadena will meet Upton Sinclair of Live Oaks in what promises to be a match where the steadier man will win. "Woody" Ibbell and Ernest Swift complete the Pasadena squad while the other players representing Live Oaks will be Packard, R. Houser and Opperman. In the first doubles Barker and Packard will meet Allen and Swift in what promises to be a well-played series of games.

While Pasadena and Live Oaks are shedding blood the Whittier squad composed of Paul Pickert, Bob Meyers, Marsh, Burke and John Kealey will be fighting the San Pedro Tennis Club for every point in the "Poets" must win every match to remain in contention. San Pedro, however, will play their strongest squad in order to hold the "Poets."

In the third and fourth match on the program, Long Beach will meet El Segundo and Southern Branch will tackle the South Park aggregation.

NEW PLAYS RUINED YANKS

Instructions—even to making the play successful—then we would have no baseball. Managers could simply sit down in the spring and figure it out with pencil and paper. I have made it a point, as I have said, never to blame a player for failing in a sincere effort to carry out instructions from the bench. But I also have made it a point to censure a player, even if he won the game, by failing to obey orders. That, I regard as necessary for discipline. At first I had some difficulty in impressing this idea upon the team.

Back in 1905 I fined a player $15 for hitting a home run with two on base—a wallop that won the game.

We had runners on first and second with none out, and I sent up Sammy Strong to bat. Sammy was a good batter and very fast on base. I wanted to make sure of his putting the ball down so as to advance the two runners.

To my surprise, however, he swung to the first one right in the groove and Sammy, swinging from his shoulders, caught the ball squarely on the nose and knocked it over the right-field fence for a home run, bringing in the two runners with him and winning the game.

As he came around the crowd began applauding and he was compelled to take off his cap. Just at that moment he reached the dugout.

"That'll cost you just twenty-five," I said to him.

"Twenty-five? What's your mean, Mr.?"

"Didn't you have instructions to hit that ball like a balloon?"

"Sure, but say, Mr.—that one came over there like a balloon. I just couldn't help talking a poke at it. Was a nip, wasn't it?"

"Yes, but it'll cost you twenty-five for disobeying instructions. Suppose you'd hit into a double play."

"All right," he said, "but the way that one felt I guess it was worth it."

One of those to answer the questionnaire asks if I think stars should be encouraged for the individual work or should the game be made to play more inside baseball. "Which does the public like best?" he asks.

The above incident is somewhat of an answer, but I will attempt to explain in more detail.

NEWPORT TENNIS MEN WANT TITLE BATTLES

(BY A. R. JONES)

NEWPORT (R. I.) Jan. 4.—Warned by the recent announcement that Forest Hills is planning to erect a big steel stadium and is after the national tennis tournament for a long term of years, the directors of the Newport Chamber of Commerce have made a move to have this city get back into the running as a place for the staging of the national tourney as it was for years up to a comparatively few seasons ago. The directors have instructed the reception committee of the chamber to work up a plan for having the tournament rotate on the courts of the big clubs of the country, and this suggestion in all probability will be presented at the meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association next month.

Classy Array of Semipro Battles on for Tomorrow Afternoon's Fun

Seventeen Greater Southern California Baseball Association ball tilts have been scheduled by Secretary Joe Pirrone for tomorrow afternoon's frolic on local diamonds. One of the feature games for tomorrow will take place at Hynes between the Norwalk and Hynes squads. Norwalk is leading the County League at present, but Hynes has been showing a lot of speed and may upset the Norwalkers.

The U.S.A. Oklahoma nine will take on the Bellflower crew at Bellflower in another fast game. At Lynwood the Inglewood Legion No. 148 team takes on the fast Lynwooders.

Jimmy Cleary's Athletics Club also will journey to La Habra to tackle the Standard-Murphy's in the rubber game of their series. Both teams have won a game and tomorrow's battle should be a hot one. The feature game in the city circuit takes place between the Fraterl brotherhoods and the Southwestern University clubs. The White Kings tackle the Asuna Merchants on the latter team's diamond. Following is the schedule for tomorrow:

JAKIE MAY YET GO TO YANKEES

Deal for May Takes on Very Floppy Aspect

Trade Off So Far as Vernon is Concerned

Huggmen Again Nibbling, Says Secretary Lorenz

That Jakie May deal threatens to become as acrobatic as Mr. Finnegan, who became so celebrated for his acrobatic flops.

There still seems to be a chance that this crack southpaw will go to the New York Yankees despite the announcement he is signed to a Vernon contract for 1923. Secretary Lorenz yesterday replied in answer to a hypothetical question, so to speak, that the deal is still off as far as Vernon is concerned, but that the Yankees again are nibbling. He admitted that negotiations may be reopened, but that the advance must be from the other side. Apparently there were some advances yesterday. Also, he stated, that while the original offer made by New York was unacceptable to Manager Knickerbocker, the latter stands ready to trade May if the Yankees will come through with the men desired.

"If we can get the men we want for May, I would not accept them, as they would strengthen the club," declared Lorenz. "But we have not reached from former position when we refused to exchange May for the men offered."

In short, the situation has the appearance of a bargaining affair with Vernon not eager to dispose of the player, but willing to on a trade that will help the club. Mayor and Knickerbocker at this distance appear to hold the trump hand. New York never has regarded the deal, although Vernon made declaration to that effect.

If the Yankees really want May they will come through with the men they want, unless they have completely changed their policy. Hence there is still a possibility that Jakie will be chucking them across in support of his stadium next season.

San Diego Five to Clash With Cub Athletes

Coach Caddy Works, mentor of the Southern Branch basketball crew will give the public its first glimpse of his powerful talent when the Cub hoopers meet the San Diego Teacher's College five in the Southern Branch gymnasium this evening. The Bruin coach has had his men hard at work throughout the entire holiday season, and has engaged in practice tilts with several of the city high schools.

That Works is expecting some stiff competition from the southern lads is evidenced by the manner in which he is preparing his team for the contest. For several years past the San Diego team has been one of the best in the south, and is calculated to show some real class. As for the Cubs, they will be there with the goods, too. Benson and Breesse at guards, Eaton and Gibbs as forwards, and Goerts at center will be the probable line-up for the "Vermont-street crew."

LOCAL BILLIARDIST IS IN EASTERN TILT

Byron Gillette, ex-champion and instructor at the L.A.A.C., is now in the East competing in the National Three-Cushion Billiard championships. Although a great deal has not reached his stride, he has not reached his stride and only holds eleventh place. Tiff Denton of Kansas City and well known in Los Angeles, is now leading the string. The standings of the men are:

Denton	10	10	7	3
Gillette	9	9	6	3

SOCCERITES MIX TOMORROW

Four of the best soccer teams will be seen in action at Washington Park tomorrow afternoon when the L. A. United meets Pasadena at 1 p.m. and Samson tackles L. A. Scots beginning at 3 p.m.

Fighting to retain the leadership of the league the Samson outfit will place a strengthened eleven on the field. A defeat would automatically send them into a tie for second position with first place going to the Athletic Club who draws a bye. That the Scots will force the league to the limit is conceded, and the same promises to be brimful of action. Elated over their recent victory against the tireless Pasadena's hopefuls will invade the city prepared to put the skids under the local United. Overasas plays the Rangers at Maler Park, Vernon, beginning at 3:30 p.m., while the Sons of St. George travel to Long Beach to battle the beach Uniteds.

HAGEN FINISHES A CLOSE SECOND

Did for a par 4 instead of playing for a par 5. Sarazen suffered at the dishpan seventh with a 5 in the morning against the par 5. I am pretty sure that he is willing to admit that his side is a severe test of golf than his.

CURIOUS COINCIDENCE

Sarazen and his golf "daddy" had a surprise score today, each recording 77 for each round, a curious enough coincidence.

John Black got a hearty cheer on his appearance at the first tee and without any strain, but with considerable reserve, the old master got quite long enough drives. He played steadily all day and his 79 and 80 were fine testimonies of still crippled golf.

High golf and drizzle in the morning made "carry" and air shots essential and firm putting on the dripping greens equally valuable. With clearer and keener weather tomorrow we should see some scoring, though no better golf, and assuredly we are destined to a thrilling finish.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

Probably one of the features of the Trojan-Penn State game most pleasing to veteran football men was the hard and sure tackling of Henderson's men.

It is not likely that any follower of football can recall a game in which there were fewer misses. In fact, it would take more than a Trojan tackle. It was even harder and more accurate than that of the Penn players, rather a surprising development of the game, as the East and Middle West were regarded as the home of the old-fashioned tackling. Years ago, when California and Stanford played at the line American game, they equaled the East in this department, but there was a long period following the revision of the rules when real back-tackling was at a low ebb in the West, although the art never was lost in the Northwest.

This and punting both passed through an era of decadence, but the Coast now unquestionably is equal to any part of the country in these departments of play. The Trojan tackling on Monday was as good as Washington and Jefferson's against California, and those dull, sickening thuds indicated by the Presidents echoed through the evening years.

Some few analysts have expressed disappointment that the Trojans did not win by at least two more touchdowns, meaning four. That's asking a lot for your ticket, a bit more than could reasonably be expected of any eleven in the country.

It is true that the Trojans gave the impression of being at least three touchdowns better than the Easters, and also the thought prevailed that except for that freak fumble and with a more prodigious attack of their running attack they might have piled up twenty-eight points. The Trojans almost invariably gained on the offense in the form of attack, while very exhausting to the opposing team, perhaps it is equally so to the backs' exerting it, and possibly would have weakened U.S.C. both on offense and defense in the closing chapters of the game. This would be a tremendous hazard to court against an eleven as potentially dangerous as Penn State was up to the final whistle.

It appeared to some that the Trojans elected to beat the Lions largely at their own game. But in reality it was safe and yet winning tactics, this interpolating of line smashes with end runs, a varied attack which unsettled Penn's defense.

Penn State was a lot tougher than some generally to be conceded. It should be recalled that Penn held to a scoreless tie Syracuse, which in turn defeated Nebraska. And yet there are some disappointed because the Trojans did not roll over four or five touchdowns against an outfit of that caliber. Eastern critics in the press box are practically unanimous in the opinion that Henderson's eleven on this occasion looked equal to any in the country.

One particularly pleasing feature of the Trojan play in this game, and throughout the season, was its absolutely clean character. I have followed this feature of their work very closely, and cannot recall one questionable act on the part of any of Henderson's players.

This is really remarkable when one considers the nature of football, the many opportunities for questionable tactics and the excitement under which the athletes labor. Henderson has taught his men hard, aggressive, fighting football, but apparently he has coached them even more in clean tactics. The runner-up position in the conference schedule, and a victory in the East vs. West classic, a place close to the very pinnacle of football.

This but proves the contention of real friends of the game that questionable tactics are not essential to victory, and that victories so won are not desirable. Such a demonstration will do much for football. In short, it goes a long way to prove that the coaches can make or break this sport. And it emphasizes the need of weeding out the undesirable, who are in an ever-dwindling minority. Incidentally, there is not a football coach in the south, I believe, who is not a clean-cut sportsman. Were the game invariably in similar hands it is doubtful whether there ever would be the slightest agitation against it. Coaches of the Henderson type instill wholesome ideals while producing good athletes, capable of clean, yet smashing, football. Dirty football, that blood-soaked football, and the deeper that can be drilled into the rising generation, and some of the fading generation, the more surely the game will stay with us unharmed and on an enduring basis.
